

The Orbel Award 2017

Win a €1000 for your thesis in Operations Research!

Deadline
November 1
2016

The Award

Every year, SOGESCI-B.V.W.B., the Belgian OR-society, organizes a student competition funded by OM Partners.

The ORBEL Award (worth €1000) is given to the author(s) of a scientifically oriented thesis (no PhD thesis!). The criteria for judgement are based on the efficiency and effectivity of the scientific approach applied to solve the problem under study. The author(s) should put emphasis on the application of existing methods in new areas or on the application of new solution methods for models recognized as useful for solving real-life management problems. One of the criteria will be, therefore, the actual collaboration with industry during the thesis elaboration.

The paper can be written in Dutch, French or English. It will be assessed by a jury mainly taking into account the effectiveness of the theoretical methods to solve practical problems.

Submission procedure

Send, before November 1, 2016, a PDF file of your thesis to Professor Frits Spieksma at frits.spieksma@kuleuven.be telling that you want to compete for the 2017 ORBEL Award. Alternatively, you can mail 3 (hard) copies of the thesis to

The Organization

SOGESCI-B.V.W.B. is the Belgian Society for the promotion of scientific methods of management.

Its goal is to contribute to the diffusion of new tools, methods and knowledge in the field of Operations Research, Management Science, Logistics and related disciplines.

It also aims at stimulating research in the above field as well as developing the cooperation between researchers and with the industry and business, both on national and international levels.

For more information on the society, its activities and the award, visit the website www.orbel.be.

Professor Frits Spieksma, ORSTAT, Faculty of Business and Economics, Naamsestraat 69, 3000 Leuven (a mail asking for confirmation should be sent to frits.spieksma@kuleuven.be).

Information and regulations www.orbel.be

The Sponsor

OM Partners is a software and consulting company that offers Supply Chain Planning Solutions to Mill Products (paper and packaging, metals, floor covering, plastics ...) and Semi Process industries (chemicals, pharmaceuticals, food & beverages, consumer products ...). With more than 250 customers and 550 implementations, it has established solid partnerships with clients all over the world; many of them are world leaders in their market. ArcelorMittal, Barry Callebaut, BASF, Deceuninck, L'Oréal and Procter & Gamble, Smurfit Kappa are only a few of OM Partners' satisfied customers.

Over 350 consultants and software engineers are based in Belgium, the USA, China, the UAE, Brazil, the Netherlands, Germany, the UK and France. OM Partners sponsors the Orbel Award, because it believes in supporting young people and giving them a head start in a successful career.

For more information, visit its website www.ompartners.com.

